Cities play an important role in achieving the Sustainable Development Goals because of their environmental, social and economic impacts. Understanding how cities work and, in particular, how to boost their benefits and mitigate their costs is critical to anticipating their future evolution and to designing public policies that address their most prominent challenges. These sessions aim to provide an overview of the role of cities in building and shaping a cleaner, healthier, and prosperous future. In particular, the sessions will focus on the relationship between cities (mobility patterns, urban form, teleworking, e-commerce, etc.) and air pollution.

If you would like to contribute to this stream of sessions, please submit your abstract online on the NARSC submission portal and then email the title, abstract, PIN, author information and contact details to Dr. Garcia-López (miquelangel.garcia@uab.cat) as soon as possible.

The deadline for abstract submission is July 12, 2024.

Please forward this announcement to colleagues that may be interested.

We look forward to seeing you in New Orleans!
